

Mr. Speaker, the United States of America never leaves a fallen soldier behind. When brothers Ronald and Lynn Woolums stood on the Tampa International Airport tarmac last week to accept the remains of their uncle, 2nd Lt. John Donald Mumford, it represented a proud tradition that defines who we are as a people.

I want to express my gratitude for the Defense Department's investigation team who made this day possible. 2nd Lt. Mumford is an American hero, and his family should beam with pride at his sacrifice. And what an amazing story to pass along from generation to generation—we honor our men and women in uniform by never forgetting.

Mr. Speaker, we salute Army Air Forces 2nd Lieutenant John Donald Mumford, and all the men and women who have given their lives protecting the freedoms we so dearly cherish. God bless our troops, and God bless America.

IN RECOGNITION OF ALTERNATIVES FOR GIRLS' 30TH ANNIVERSARY ON THE DATE OF ITS 2017 ROLE MODEL DINNER

HON. DEBBIE DINGELL

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 23, 2017

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Alternatives for Girls on the date of its 2017 Role Model dinner. Alternatives for Girls provides critical outreach and support to at-risk youth to help them grow strong and make positive choices to improve their lives.

Founded in 1987 to provide shelter and care for at-risk girls in Detroit, Alternatives for Girls began as an all-volunteer organization that operated a five-bed emergency shelter in a Detroit-area church. As a result of the organization's success and impact, AFG has grown significantly in an attempt to fulfill its mission to empower and improve the lives of disadvantaged young women. Today, Alternatives for Girls has over 50 employees and operates multiple services on behalf of Detroit's at-risk youth. These include after-school programs for young women in elementary school, several shelter programs to provide stable homes and counseling, and outreach services to help teens and young women engaged in high-risk activities like gang involvement and drug use. This comprehensive approach to supporting young women in need has been effective in empowering these individuals to make positive choices and create a brighter future for themselves.

Over the past 25 years, AFG has served over 105,000 at-risk girls, women and family members. Additionally, 99 percent of the young women participating in AFG's Prevention Program have graduated high school and gone on to college. These results underscore the impact that AFG's multidisciplinary and evidence-based approaches to reducing harmful behavior have had for at-risk youth involved in the program. Additionally, AFG's outreach efforts have been critical to raising awareness of the issues these young women face and driving action in state and local government. The progress that AFG has made in improving the lives of young girls has been remarkable and inspiring, and it is my hope that the organization continues its critical work in the coming years.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring Alternatives for Girls' 30th anniversary on the date of its 2017 Role Model Dinner. The efforts of the group have impacted the lives of countless young women in metro Detroit.

Mr. MCCAUL. Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD the cost estimate from the Congressional Budget Office regarding H.R. 1252. The cost estimate was not available at the time of the filing of the Committee report.

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, March 22, 2017.

Hon. MICHAEL MCCAUL,
Chairman, Committee on Homeland Security,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 1252, the DHS Acquisition Authorities Act of 2017.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Mark Grabowicz.

Sincerely,

MARK P. HADLEY
(For Keith Hall).

Enclosure.

H.R. 1252—DHS Acquisition Authorities Act of 2017

H.R. 1252 would specify which offices in the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) headquarters have responsibility for acquisition programs. Based on information from DHS, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 1252 would cost less than $500,000 annually; such spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Enacting the legislation would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 1252 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 1252 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Mark Grabowicz. The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Carol Goss, community activist and recipient of the Alternatives for Girls' 2017 Role Model award. Ms. Goss has helped revitalize the city of Detroit and the surrounding area through her work with the Skillman Foundation and other community organizations.

Ms. Goss has been an outstanding advocate for vulnerable women and children. After receiving a Master's in Social Work from the University of Michigan, Ms. Goss worked for the Stuart Foundation and W.K. Kellogg Foundation as a program manager in support of child welfare efforts. In 1998, Ms. Goss joined the Skillman Foundation, an organization that provides grants to support education, safety and youth development initiatives on behalf of children in Detroit. After distinguishing herself as a senior program officer, Ms. Goss was named President and CEO of the foundation, where she served until 2013. RECOGNIZING THE LIFE OF FALL-
EN MISSISSIPPI SOLDIER MA-RINE CORPORAL (CPL) DUSTIN
JEROME LEE

HON. TRENT KELLY

OF MISSISSIPPI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 23, 2017

Mr. KELLY of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, today I rise in memory of fallen Mississippi Marine Corporal (CPL) Dustin Jerome Lee who paid the ultimate sacrifice while defending our nation on March 21, 2007, during Operation Iraqi Freedom III. CPL Lee died from wounds he received during a mortar attack while on a combat mission in Fallujah, Anbar Province, Iraq.

CPL Lee was assigned to the Third Recon Battalion, II Marine Expeditionary Force. Prior to his deployment, CPL Lee was assigned to Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps Logistics Base in Albany, Georgia. After graduating from Quitman High School in 2004, he joined the Marines. CPL Lee was described as a dutiful son who led a Christian life, and always looked for the good in people. CPL Lee's friends say he always wanted to serve his country.

CPL Lee also had great skills working with animals. While in Iraq, CPL Lee served as the Patrol Explosive Detector Dog handler. Lex, a Military Working Dog, was wounded in the mortar attack that killed CPL Lee. His parents, Jerome and Rachel Lee, were allowed to adopt the bomb-sniffing dog with help from U.S. Representative WALTER JONES (R-NC). After Lex's retirement from military service, he was taken to VA hospitals and retirement homes to comfort veterans. CPL Lee's bond with Lex and his expert dog-handling skills will forever be remembered at the Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany, where the kennel has been named in his honor.

At his funeral, more than 100 members of The Patriot Guard attended along with local high school ROTC members. Law enforcement officers traveled from all across Mississippi to pay their respects. CPL Lee's commander, Colonel Chris Halliday described CPL Lee as a special person who fit into the Marine Corps and its commitment to excellence and dedication to the country.

AMERICAN HEALTH CARE
PROPOSAL

HON. CHELLIE PINGREE

OF MAINE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 23, 2017

Ms. PINGREE. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of my constituent, Jill Job Saxby, I'd like to include in the RECORD her proposal for evaluating the ethics of any health care plan that potentially risks access to care for millions of Americans. I submit that the American Health Care Act does not fulfill these considerations and I urge my colleagues to take seriously the ethical implications of their vote.

Under this proposal, will more of the most vulnerable Americans be able to access quality, affordable health care?

Health care is a basic and universal human need, which, if denied, harms persons and diminishes the community. The most vulnerable are those with the least power, status and resources in society. In the case of health care, the most vulnerable are those who suffer poorer health and shorter life expectancy because of poverty and social inequities that create barriers to accessing quality medical care and all the other contributors to good health (clean environment, healthy food, paid sick leave, reliable child-care and transportation). The most vulnerable would also include those with pre-existing conditions and lack of access to preventive care.

The Golden Rule Test: Am I willing to trade places with those whose lives will be most profoundly affected by this proposal?

The Golden Rule is found in all major world religions. It rests on the moral assertions that: 1) every human life has inherent worth and dignity and 2) because we are all in relationship with one another, my actions (or inactions) towards others have moral consequences for myself and for the larger community.

The Golden Rule requires us to respond to suffering not merely with charity, but with justice. Charity is given by those who can afford it, out of surplus. Justice requires living in right-relationship with all persons, at all times. A just proposal will decrease social inequities and assure a single standard of care, with equal accessibility, to all persons.

Does this proposal treat health care as a fundamental human need giving rise to a human right to care and alleviation of suffering?

Health care is a basic and universal human need. Meeting that need is a precursor to a person's ability to exercise and enjoy the inalienable rights that our nation has recognized from the beginning: life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

There is a compelling ethical argument to be made that health care, by its very nature, should not be treated as a commodity to be bought and sold. We already recognize this in some of our long-standing public policies: We do not allow the purchase and sale of human organs for transplant. We have strict rules governing human clinical trials. We provide charity care. We restrict the freedom of sellers by regulating providers' education and licensing. We protect buyers with privacy laws. Such laws recognize that health care intersects with a dimension of human existence that is universally worthy of protection against the forces of the free market.

Therefore, we must ask: how does it address the downside of free market forces, especially rising inequality? Who benefits? Who loses? Does it prioritize profits (a market good) or human health/alleviation of suffering (a common good and a human right)?
